Trivision Prints Shows Depth And Motion.

A picture of an old man in his shirt sleeves glittered in natural color on the desk of George P. Winnick, 35-year-old Madras, Wis., photographer engineer. The picture showed a man in a room which one was looking at a live human being.

Suddenly Winnick picked it up and the man in the picture seemed to move. An observer could see around the man and look at the scenery in the background. The likeness was made in a message received by Winnick, a photograph of a man in a room.

Winnick demonstrated a series of "trivision" photographs, saying he expects the principle to revolutionize motion pictures, photography, cinematography, television and graphic printing.

The technique employed—use of a camera with a lens combined with 800 ridges to the inch—will enable each of these fields to adopt pictures in three dimensions.

Sanctity Of Contracts Maritime Board Of Trade Resolves

"A definite and apparently increasing tendency in certain quarters to disregard that right of contract, involving sanctity of all contracts, obligations, provincial, municipal, and national, is being manifested."

In a resolution passed at the closing of the annual convention of the "Maritime Board of Trade," the association sought to "earnestly impress upon the federal government its profound respect for the sanctity of contracts."

Sanctity of all contracts and obligations in the past has been accorded everywhere as traditionally and characteristically Canadian, the resolution declared.

The federal government was urged to "use its full prerogative to maintain the credit and standing of all Canada because of the inevitable consequences upon the credit and reputation of the country" of the departure from traditional and characteristic business ethics.

Carrying War Orders

Army-Age Nails Knew Where To Report If Needed

Millions of Germans between the ages of 25 and 45 are carrying the order to report to the military authorities in the event of a war.

This "Kriegsbefehl" (order to report) is a small card which is carried by every German citizen, especially among the older men who themselves experienced the horrors of the Great War.

Obviously they display enthusiasm, but in private, confidential conversations their beliefs are often quite different.

With Prussian exactness the order specifies where the bearer is to report in the event of a war.

This order serves in lieu of a ticket on the railways to the point where the soldier must report.

Regulations accompanying the order state that failure to live up to the terms of the "Kriegsbefehl" will be punished by martial law.

The order is a blue sheet of paper eight by five inches. Written across it is the name of the bearer.

Are More Than Equal

Women In One Chinese Province Have Succeeded Men

Modern feminists who demand that women hold equal position with men in everyday life should go to the main province of China, the Western China. They find that their wishes satisfied there, perhaps more so than elsewhere.

Pools and the Marketing of Grain

The country elevator uses the present marketing system because experience and numerous investigations have proved it to be the best and cheapest way of handling and marketing Canada's wheat.

The Western Pools, who are members of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, state that they use its facilities because they have no other alternative. They have other alternatives. They could:

- (a) Sell direct to Canadian exporters;
- (b) Sell direct to overseas millers;
- (c) Sell direct to overseas importers;
- (d) Establish their own Pool Exchange.

They do none of these things, because they know that the open market, of all systems tried to date, affords the farmer the best price and the best protection. In other words, they use their membership in the Winnipeg Grain Exchange in the same manner as the other country elevator companies use theirs, and for exactly the same reasons.

It may be that some better system can and will be evolved by conference, investigation or experiment. If any other system of marketing which will prove of greater benefit to the farmer can be evolved, it will receive its earliest and strongest support from the elevator companies whose pride it is to have been in the vanguard of service to the farmers of the West for more than thirty years.

If relief work is as badly needed as appears to be well known to the community, would it not be possible for them to take steps to make the federal assistance known to those of their districts who have applied for the pay, check, now so badly needed down, and who perhaps are quite unaware of what is going on in this direction?

While it is not the intention of the federal government to pay doing wages (the idea being to help the farmer to help himself), the wider adoption of the opportunity thus offered would greatly result in an added flow of outside money into the district, in addition to some extent of the relief burden to the taxpayers.

SCAREMONGERING

Nothing shakes the stability of institutions of men more than a lack of confidence. Recently there has been a widespread scaremongering as to the safety of cash and securities deposited in Alberta banks. Rumour, the chief enemy, has been responsible for this situation, which was startlingly emphasized by big black headlines which appeared in one newspaper, and the Calgary Daily Herald during last week, proclaiming that millions of dollars had left the province and that the government was planning to take the securities out of the banks. This, no doubt, was a rather important news by the editor, but by a policy of scaremongering the Herald may be charged with being guilty of disservice to the province.

Nothing could be better calculated to ensure the closing down of the banks than such a panic rush which resulted in wholesale withdrawal of deposit funds; for a bank, like any other commercial institution, lives upon the volume of business, falling then, there should be no cause for surprise at its early closing.

That this would be a calamity and to the detriment of the public due to the institutions themselves, can hardly be doubted by anyone who will take time to consider the matter in all its implications. There was a time in Delta when the cash was drawn for more banking facilities and would not be satisfied until it had obtained them, although the ultimate result from a business standpoint is the banking institution cannot be considered a matter for congratulation.

It was not necessary to wait the re-assurance of the member, on Saturday evening last, for sensible people to realize that unless the Alberta government, like the Governor's office, was least busy destroying itself, no such drastic measures were ever seriously considered. Live up to the volume of business that are not recognized by some longheaded people. In these anxious times it is very necessary to govern a sane and balanced judgment.

Policyholders Own the "Assets" of Life Insurance Companies

As a great co-operative enterprise, Life Insurance has built up Assets in Canada totalling approximately two billion dollars. Yet these Assets are relatively small when it is realized that they are jointly owned by about 3,500,000 policyholders—one third of Canada's population.

On the average, each policyholder owns $571 as his share of the total Assets in Life Insurance Companies operating in Canada. Obviously, the great majority of policyholders are men and women of ordinary means—thrift people who, year by year, have entrusted to Life Insurance part of their savings so that they may have financial security against the uncertain future.

These policyholders represent the best type of Canadian citizen. They have sought to preserve their financial independence, and as thrifty citizens, neither they nor their dependants are ever likely to become charges upon government or municipal relief.

To protect the interests of these 3,500,000 Canadian policyholders, Life Insurance Companies have invested their Assets in government and municipal bonds—in first mortgages—in public utilities and industrial enterprises—and in other authorized securities.

The soundness of the Investment policy of the Companies has been tried and proven during periods of severe financial stress. Governing and corporate bodies in which policyholders' monies are invested have, until recently, maintained the integrity of their obligations. This has made it possible in turn for the companies, in their capacity as trustees for the policyholders, to fulfill every obligation guaranteed by their policies.

Now, however, there is a growing tendency to repudiate, by legislation, public and private debts, regardless of the debtor's ability to pay. Legislation which tends to destroy the ownership of public and private property places an unjust burden upon life insurance policyholders.

Majestic-Parrell Lake W.I.

The meeting of the Majestic Parrell Lake W.I. was held on Friday last week at the home of Mrs. O. R. Hauld, with the president in the chair.

This meeting dealt chiefly with our inner and outer. A shower for Mrs. Sam McKee (nee Mrs. Nellie Laidlaw), was arranged. Mrs. C. Lawrence kindly offered her home for the occasion.

A paper on Household Economics was prepared by Mrs. McKay and read by Mrs. O. R. Hauld.

The meeting adjourned and the members looked at some of the latest work handled in.

The Ladies, Mrs. O. R. Hauld, served a delicious lunch—O.K.
